

Lake Trout

The lake trout is large and fat, it can weigh 43 kg (120 lbs), and it has a big head. It eats plankton, chubbs, sulphurs, and smelts. The Lake Trout lives at icy waters, and all over North America, and lake Ontario, and the Great Lakes.

By Magan

Lake Trout

It has a big head and it has spots. It also has sharp teeth, grayish and brownish and greenish eyes. Plus large and fat it is 43kg (120lbs). It eats plankton and smelt, chabs, sculpins. It lives in deep cold water. It also lives in Ontario and the northern America it lives all over Canada. A Lake Trout is a fish that has a long head and really has sharp teeth. It also eats plankton and smelt. It lives in Ontario and in the Northern America.

By Sapphire Nolan

Lake Trout

A lake trout is a large fish. It can weight 43 kg that is almost 120 pounds. It has sharp teeth. A lake trout eats plankton, chubs and smelts. It lives in North America. And some live in Canada. A lake trout is a very big fish. A lake trout eats different fish.

By Philip

Lake Trout

Lake trout is a kind of a different fish. It is large and fat and the weight is 43 kg. It has a big head and it has a very sharp teeth it has a deep water there water is very cold and sometimes the surface cools down they go very deep because down deep it has very cold water. It eats planktons crabs, sculpins, smelts it lives in deep waters and northern part of North America and all around and in icy water and they are in great lakes.

By Pearl

Lake Trout

A Lake Trout is a spotted fish. A Lake Trout has a big face, sharp teeth and a spotted lighter shade on the belly, torpedo shaped. A Lake Trout eats plankton, crabs, sculpins and smelts. It lives in the Great Lakes, icy waters over Canada and goes in deep waters. A Lake Trout is a big spotted fish. It mostly eats plankton. It lives in the Great Lakes, in deep waters.

By Muhammad

Lake Trout

The lake trout is an amazing fish. The Lake trout is large and fat and it weights 43 kg and some others weigh 3 to 9 kg. It is spotted on its belly. It has a big head. On its belly it is a different colour like gray and brown. It eats plankton chubbs and smelts. It lives in North America and Ontario. It also lives in cold water and the Great Lakes. The lake trout is fat. It weights 43 kg. It eats chubbs, smelts and plankton.

By Marcus

Lake Trout

The fish bigger than a salmon is a Lake Trout. The Lake Trout has a big head & sharp teeth, it's related to the salmon family. The Trout is torpedo shape. Trout eat plankton, chubs, sculpins & smelts. It lives in deep waters in Northern North America and Ontario.

By Makeda

Lake Trout

The lake trout is a famous fish. A trout has a light line on its belly and fat and large fish it is apart of the salmon family. It eats plankton, chubs, supins, semits. It lives in deep water.

By Larissa

Lake Trout

By Khalil

The Lake Trout is very interesting because it is almost extinct.

The Lake Trout can be grey, brown or green. It is large and fat fish. It has a large head, sharp teeth and it is spotted. It has a lighter shade of its colour on its belly and is torpedo shaped. It eats plankton, chubs, smelts and sculpins. It lives in deep waters all over Canada in the Great Lakes.

The lake trout is a very famous fish. Lake trout looked large and fat. It can weigh up to 43kg, 120pounds. It was torpedo-shaped. It is part of the salmon family. Lake Trout ate tiny fish in water called krill, plankton, shubs, sculpins, and smelts. These big fish live in Northern North America, in the icy waters. This fish is huge. It is shaped like a missel. They eat small fish. They live in places like the five great lakes.

By Kareem

Lake Trout

The lake trout is an endangered species. It is spotted and it is torpedo shaped, round belly, sharp teeth and large head. It eats plankton, chubs, smelt and sculpins. The lake trout lived in deep waters, North America, Ontario, cold water and lake Ontario. It's spotted and it's a torpedo shape. It eats plankton and smelt in lives in deep waters and it lives all over Canada.

By Jesse

Lake Trout

A lake Trout has a big head, sharp teeth, large and fat, spotted , grey, brown and green. The lake trout can weight 403 kg. Lake trout's eat plankton, scalpins, and smelts.

By Jermaine

Lake Trout

The Trout is a big fish. Lake Trout is very rare, also three colours like green, black and grey. Most of them can weight up to 43 kg to 120 lbs and has sharp teeth. They eat plankton, chubs, sculpins and smelts, yummy... for a fish. Some of them live all over Canada and in icy waters too, and most live in deep waters and in other places too. Lake Trout are almost gone and is a type of fish and eats other fish and sometimes live in icy waters it has big teeth to CHOMP!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

By Jennifer

Lake Trout

The biggest fish is a Lake Trout. The lake trout looks like a large and fat fish. It weighs 43kg (120lbs). The lake trout eats plankton. The lake trout lives deep beneath the water. A lake trout looks big and fat. It eats things from in the water like plankton. It lives deep beneath the water.

By Jean-Ann

Lake Trout

The Lake Trout is large and fat, big head , torpedo shape sharp teeth and could be green , brown or grey. It eats plankton, chubs, sculpin and , smelt . The lake trout live in deep waters and icy water, Lake Ontario, great lake and all over Canada . The Lake trout could change colour eats plankton and more and lives all over Canada .

By Daniel

Lake Trout

The lake trout is one of the remaining fish left. The lake trout has a big head with very sharp teeth. It's spotted all over the body and can be grey, brown or green. They're part of the salmon family and are torpedo shaped. Lake trouts eat a number of things. They eat tiny bacteria called plankton. They also eat chubs, sculpins and smelts. They live in cold deep waters in northern North America all over Canada. They live in most of the Great Lakes. The lake trout has a big body and spotted all over. They eat plankton, chubs, sculpins, and smelts. They live in the deep waters of the northern North America all over Canada.

By: Cindy

The lake trout are almost extinct

It's large and fat can weight 43 kg. It has a big head and sharp teeth their spots are gray, brown or green and it's part of the salmon family. Lake trout's favorite food is plankton, chubs, scalpins, and smelts. It lives in cold water, deep waters, Northern North America, Lake Ontario, Great Lakes, Icy waters and all over. Lake Trout is big and huge it has hard teeth and its favorite food is plankton and other foods it lives in cold and icy waters.

By Banu

Lake Trout

“This amazing trout is famous. A Lake Trout is large and fat, have big heads, are gray, brown or green and has a light shade on its belly. The fish eats plankton, chubs, sculpins, and smelt. This trout lives all over Canada, like Lake Ontario. They live in deep icy water. This lake fish is famous for its taste and size, but is in danger.”

By Austin

Lake Trout

The Lake Trout is an endangered fish. It is a fat fish and weighs 43 kg. It also has a big head. It comes green, gray and brown. It is torpedo shaped. It eats plankton, smelt, sculpin, and chubs. It lives in deep waters over Canada. It also lives in the Great Lakes. It likes cold water. It comes in different colors and eats a variety of food. It lives in North America. It is also wanted for eating.

By: Aryan

Lake Trout

Lake Trout is a big fish. The lake trout has sharp teeth and is big and fat. It can be gray, brown, or green.

It eats plankton, chubs, smelts and sculpins.

It lives in deep and icy Great Lakes in Northern Ontario.

The lake trout is big, has sharp teeth and is fat. It eats plankton, chubs, smelts and sculpins. It lives in deep and icy Great Lakes.

By: Amy

Lake Trout

What is a lake trout?

The lake trout has a fat body and a large head and it is spotted. It's also brown and green. It has sharp teeth and it also weighs 43 km. It is apart of the salmon family. The lake trout likes to eat plankton and chubs and sculpins. Lake trout lives in the Great Lakes also in icy waters and North America and lakes all over Canada. The lake trout is large and it also eats smelts and it likes to live in cold and icy waters.

By Vivian

Lake Trout

A Lake Trout is an endangered fish. It is large, fat and has a big head with sharp teeth. It eats plankton, chubbs, smelts and sculpins. It lives in deep and icy waters across Canada and in lakes. A Lake Trout is an endangered fish that is large and fat. It eats other fish that live in deep and icy waters.

By Tiffane